Rumor Says Griff Will Trade Wally Smith for "Lefty" Leverenze.

OTHER NATIONAL NOTES

Milan Likely to Draw Suspension for Run-in with Umpire Silk O'Loughlin.

By WILLIAM PEET.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.-A rumor was were planning to pull off a deal whereby both clubs would be strengthened. The Browns need a first-baseman and short-stop, while Griff could use a seasoned twister.

Wallie Smith and a bunch of money for Wallie Smith and a bunch of money for "Lefty" Leverenx was one report that gained considerable circulation. Manager Griffith denies fiatly that he is dickering for any of the St Louis players. Naturally the Old Fox would discredit any such rumor, until a deal had been put through, but with the addition of young Neff, Washington could easily spare Wallie Smith, and as the Browns have two corking good southpaws in Hamilton and Wellman, Leverens would ot be missed. Bob Groom called upon his old teammates this morning and made the as-counding statement that the Federal League, as presently constituted, was a better circuit than either the American or the National, for the reason that the eight clubs in the outlaw league are more evenly balanced in playing strength.

Groom adds that at the expiration of his present three-year contract with the Federal League he will be wealthy enough to quit baseball for good.

For the first time this season the Nationals were forced this afternoon to buck the Federals. While Washing-ton and the Browns were playing in Sportsman's Park, the St. Louis and Pittsburgh Federals were busy on the outlaw diamond. The Browns drew, a crowd of nearly 4,000 fans, while only 88 persons saw the Feds in action. hese figures were obtained from an uthoritative source.

It was through no fault of Doc Ayers It was through no fault of Doc Ayers that he is charged with today's defeat, for Griff sent him in to relieve Shaw in the seventh with Shotten on first base and two balls called on Austin. Ayers promptly causht Shotten napping, but walked Austin. Pratt struck out and E. Walker rolled a dinky grounder along the first-base line. Henry picked up the ball and threw it to left field. Austin scored and Walker went to second. A minute later, when E. Walker attempted to steal third. Henry pegged ten feet steal third, Henry pessed ten feet er Foster's head, and the runner

INTERNATIONAL POLO STARS

Saturday the eyes of the sporting world, in fact the whole world, will be, in spirit, on the great rectangle of greensward at Meadowbrooke, Long Island, where four doughty knights of the swinging mallet from Merrie England will ride their chargers against four worthy citizens of the United States.

According to the English handicapping, Messrs. Barrett and Cheape are in the highest classification. They are tenpoint or limit men. None of the other Englishmen here this year rank so high.

The American rating is slightly different. Nine points is the highest handicap here. Lawrence and Montgomery Waterbury and Devereux Milburn are nine-point players in the United States, but are ranked one point higher in the English handicap system. According to the consensus of expert opinion Devereux Milburn is the best man on either team. It is doubtful if there ever was his better as a polo player.

Nationals Are Beaten by St. Louis in the Tenth Inning.

IS A WEIRD EXHIBITION

Shaw, Doc Ayers, and Jack Bentley Work on Mound for Locals.

By WILLIAM PRET.

St. Louis, Mo.. June 8.—For the second time in succession the Griffithian forces had to bow before Rickey's St. Louis Browns, losing today a ten-inning contest by 8 to 7.

Excuses and alibis should be thrown to the winds. One bad decision by Umpire O'Loughlin blotted out what would have been the National's winning run in the ninth, but so many Umpire O'Loughlin blotted out what would have been the National's winning run in the ninth, but so many chances to load up the tally column were missed by weak hitting and bad baseball that O'Loughlin's ruling is not to be considered.

The game consumed 3 hours and 35 minutes and the players did not reach the hotel until nearly 8 o'clock, which is 3 o'clock Eastern time.

Jim Shaw started and worried through six innings. He was wild and decidedly off color. Doc Ayers relieved him and finished the chapter. Bentley was on the job during the three remaining rounds.

Errors All Hurt.

Errors All Hurt.

Griff's pitchers were denied gilt-edged support, which accounts for the bulky run total of the Browns. Even old reliable John Henry inserted a couple of wild and welly throws that Bill James opened in the box for the Browns, but he only lasted six innings, and when Roy Mitchell, the official keeper of Washington's goat, was when into the pastime, everybody on the visit-ing bench groaned, for Mitchell only holds his job here because he can usually be depended upon to beat the Nationals.

Shaw was reached for a couple of singles in the Brown's second inning, and by lumping with this bombardment a walk and an error the Rickeyites assumed a two-run lead.

Shotten's single, a pass to Austin, together with Red Walker's smash to left, and Shanks' error, added two more markdouble. Walker made a poor throw, and both Shanks and Morgan counted.

Washington tied the score in the fifth by tearing Mr. James to pieces on four two home runs, making his total for clean blows contributed by Moeller, Fossesson seven. In neither case today ter, Milan and Shanks 414 the clean blows contributed by Moeller, Fossesson seven. In neither case today

Washington's ninth was the real thriller. All the excitement of the afternoon was crowded into this spasm. Foster led off with a double to right center and field. Gandil died, Wares to Leary, advancing Milan to third. Shanks walked.

Ray Morgan gave Milan the squeeze signal and instead of hunting the hall was NO BONES ARE BROKEN with the result that Red Walker camped under a short fiv. Milan darked camped under a short fly.
